ALL SAINTS' EPISCOPAL CHURCH, PALO ALTO

Welcome to the Fourth Annual Festival of New Music for Treble Voices

The idea for the festival sprang from the realization that several of the most nationally- and internationally-acclaimed treble choirs, all leaders in commissioning and performing new music, reside in the Bay Area.

As a professional choir dedicated to new music, Volti initiated the Festival of New Music for Treble Voices to support performances of this innovative repertoire. Volti and the Festival's artistic director Martín Benvenuto are pleased to welcome two new choirs this year: Crystal Children's Choir and Cantabile Youth Singers.

DR. MARTÍN BENVENUTO, ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Martín Benvenuto has established himself as one of the leading treble choir conductors in the Bay Area. A native of Buenos Aires, Argentina, he has been Artistic Director of the Peninsula Women's Chorus since 2003. Active as a clinician, panelist, and guest conductor, Benvenuto is also Artistic Director of WomenSing, and has served on the faculty of the Piedmont East Bay Children's Choir.

Recognized for his exacting technique, compelling presence, and a passion for drawing the finest choral tone, Benvenuto's repertoire is extensive, including great landmarks of the treble repertoire as well as works by living composers. His choirs are dedicated to commissioning new works from leading composers such as Libby Larsen, Chen Yi, Stacy Garrop, Charles Griffin, Cristián Grases, Brian Holmes, and David Conte.

His choirs have earned high marks in international competitions in Argentina, South Africa, Canada, Hungary, and Spain. Of particular note is third prize awarded to the PWC at the Béla Bartók International Choir Competition, one of the most competitive and prestigious in the European circuit. Benvenuto highly values artistic collaborations: his choirs have collaborated with Veljo Tormis, Joseph Jennings, Karmina Silec, Charles Bruffy, California Shakespeare Theater, the San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus, and the Golden Gate Men's Chorus.

Benvenuto has prepared choirs for organizations such as the San Francisco Opera, the Oakland East Bay Symphony, the Redwood Symphony, and the Kronos Quartet, and for works such as Bach's St. Matthew Passion, Monteverdi's Vespers, Britten's St. Nicholas, Mahler's Third Symphony, Holst's The Planets, Stravinsky's Mass, and Orff's Carmina Burana.

An accomplished singer as well, Benvenuto has appeared as a tenor soloist in Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass, Vivaldi's Magnificat, Mozart's Requiem, Bach's Cantata BWV 61, Beethoven's Mass in C, Ramirez's Misa Criolla, and others. As a member of the Westminster Symphonic Choir, he sang with the New York Philharmonic, Philadelphia Orchestra and Los Angeles Philharmonic under the batons of Kurt Masur, Wolfgang Sawallisch, Helmuth Rilling, Esa-Pekka Salonen and Joseph Flummerfelt.

Benvenuto holds a DMA in choral conducting from Boston University, where he studied with Ann Howard Jones and the late Robert Shaw. He earned his master's degree from Westminster Choir College, majoring both in Choral Conducting and Voice Performance and Pedagogy, studying under Joseph Flummerfelt, Elem Eley, and Julia Kemp. His undergraduate degrees in choral conducting and composition are from the Universidad Católica Argentina.

Benvenuto has recently been initiated as a Distinguished Member into the San Francisco Peninsula Alumnae chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota (SAI), where he received a Friend of the Arts membership.

PROGRAM NOTES

PENINSULA WOMEN'S CHORUS

Windwolves (No.1 from Two Windsongs).....Imant Raminsh (b. 1943)
Text: William D. Sargent

Do you hear the cry as the pack goes by,
The windwolves hunting across the sky?
Hear them tongue it, keen and clear,
Hot on the flanks of the flying deer!

Across the forest, mere and plain,
Their hunting call goes up again!
All night they'll follow the trail,
All night we'll hear their phantom wail.

For tonight the windwolf pack hold sway,
From Pegasus square to the Milky Way,
And the frightened bands of cloud deer
Flee in scattered groups of two or three.

Composer's Note: 'Windwolves' is the first of Two Windsongs commissioned by Iris Lamanna and the Contra Costa Children's Chorus, and is set for four-part treble voices, solo oboe, and piano. Echoing the strongly rhythmic, energetic nature of the text by William Sargent, the piece is marked "wild, unrelenting," and calls for agile tongues and voices. The stanzaic musical treatment with each verse building in pitch and intensity to a wailing "wolf cry." Approaching and receding interwoven vocal lines using dramatic dynamic shifts are intended to give the work a lot of three-dimensional depth. The oboe colour also adds a certain plaintive voice to the piece.

—Imant Raminsh

Imant Raminsh was born in Ventspils, Latvia, but emigrated to Canada at an early age. He studied at the Royal Conservatory of Toronto, University of Toronto, Akademie Mozarteum, Salzburg, the University of British Columbia and the University of Victoria. He is the founding conductor of the New Caledonia Chamber Orchestra (now the Prince George Symphony), Aura Chamber Choir, Nova Children's Choir, and the youth Symphony Orchestra of the Okanagan. As a composer he is the recipient of many commissions and his works have been performed worldwide. The Association of Canadian Choral Conductors awarded him its National Choral Award in 1990 for his Magnificat and in 1994 for his Veni, Sancte Spiritus.

Brenda Schuman-Post is a uniquely versatile oboist who plays classical to Celtic, show tunes to contemporary, soothing to wild jazz improvisations. She's been described as 'an oboe advocate' and has played for almost every type of audience. Brenda especially enjoys accompanying singers and has for many years played with the Calvary Church Choir, Winifred Baker Chorale, and Marin Oratorio Orchestras. She is delighted to have played last year with WomenSing and today with the Peninsula Women's Chorus.

Como Tú.....Alberto Grau (b. 1937)
Text is from the poem, "A Margarita Debayle," by Rubén Darío

Te voy a contar un cuento

I am going to tell you a story

Este era un Rey que tenía
un palacio de diamantes,
una tienda hecha de día
y un rebaño de elefantes.

There was once a King who had a palace of diamonds,
a tent of gossamer,
and a herd of elephants.

Un kiosco de malaquita,
un gran manto de tisú,
y una gentil Princesita
tan bonita como tú.

A pavilion of malachite,
a great cape of silk and gold,
and a nice little Princess,
as pretty as you

Contemporary Venezuelan composer Alberto Grau was inspired by the poem Margarita by the Nicaraguan poet Félix Rubén García Sarmiento, known as Rubén Darío. Darío was the father of the Spanish-American literary movement known as modernismo, which flourished at the end of the nineteenth century. Using only the first stanza of the poem, Grau explores various settings of the text and uses certain words like malaquita, tan bonita, and como tú, "just like you," to produce rich poly-rhythmic textures. Latin-American rhythms, dissonant harmonies, and multicolor vocal effects are combined in three- to sixteen-part vocal textures, starting with a simple introduction and gradually growing to a large divisi climax at the end. The piece is a real tour de force for a women's choir. – María Guinand

The Jumblies.....Judith Shatin (b. 1949)
Text: Edward Lear

They went to sea in a Sieve, they did,
In a Sieve they went to sea:
In spite of all their friends could say,
On a winter's morn, on a stormy day,
In a Sieve they went to sea!
And when the Sieve turned round and round,
And every one cried, `You'll all be drowned!'
They called aloud, `Our Sieve ain't big,
But we don't care a button! we don't care a fig!
In a Sieve we'll go to sea!'
Far and few, far and few,
Are the lands where the Jumblies live;
Their heads are green, and their hands are blue,
And they went to sea in a Sieve.

They sailed away in a Sieve, they did,
In a Sieve they sailed so fast,
With only a beautiful pea-green veil
Tied with a riband by way of a sail,

To a small tobacco-pipe mast;
And every one said, who saw them go,
'O won't they be soon upset, you know!
For the sky is dark, and the voyage is long,
And happen what may, it's extremely wrong
In a Sieve to sail so fast!

The water it soon came in, it did,
The water it soon came in;
So to keep them dry, they wrapped their feet
In a pinky paper all folded down neat,
And they fastened it down with a pin.
And they passed the night in a crockery-jar,
And each of them said, 'How wise we are!
Though the sky be dark, and the voyage be long,
Yet we never can think we were rash or wrong,
While round in our Sieve we spin!

And all night long they sailed away;
And when the sun went down,
They whistled and warbled a moony song
To the echoing sound of a copper gong,
In the shade of the mountains brown.
And all night long in the moonlight pale,
We sail away with a pea-green sail,
In the shade of the mountains brown!

They sailed to the Western Sea, they did,
To a land all covered with trees,
And they bought an Owl, and a useful Cart,
And a pound of Rice, and a Cranberry Tart,
And a hive of silvery Bees.
And they bought a Pig, and some green Jack-daws,
And a lovely Monkey with lollipop paws,
And forty bottles of Ring-Bo-Ree,
And no end of Stilton Cheese.

And in twenty years they all came back,
In twenty years or more,
And every one said, 'How tall they've grown!
For they've been to the Lakes, and the Terrible Zone,
And the hills of the Chankly Bore!
And they drank their health, and gave them a feast
Of dumplings made of beautiful yeast;
And every one said, 'If we only live,
We too will go to sea in a Sieve,---
To the hills of the Chankly Bore!
Far and few, far and few,
Are the lands where the Jumblies live;
Their heads are green, and their hands are blue,
And they went to sea in a Sieve.

Composer's Note: "The Jumblies," a setting of the poem of that name by Edward Lear, was commissioned by the Peninsula Women's Chorus, with conductor Martin Benvenuto, in memory of chorister Mary Ager. While I did not have the pleasure of knowing Mary, it is clear that she brought great joy to all whose lives she touched, and I am pleased to dedicate this piece to her. Mary's sister, Lois Hinderlie, offered several wonderful suggestions for texts to set, including this poem. Other members of the chorus also made excellent suggestions. However, when I learned about Mary's deep interest in Victorian literature, even earning a PhD in the subject, I felt that the Lear poem was especially appropriate. The images are delightful and the whole is charming. Yet, there is a more serious message that one should set out on one's journey without worrying about whether others will come along. In the end, they may well wish they had! Scored for treble chorus and piano, the music closely mirrors the vivid images of the text. It is my hope that Mary, with her inclusive musical taste and zest for singing, would have enjoyed it.

—Judith Shatin

Judith Shatin is a composer, sound artist, community arts partner and educator. Her inspirations range from myth, poetry and her Jewish heritage to the calls of the animals around us and the sounding universe beyond. THE PENINSULA WOMEN'S CHORUS

The Peninsula Women's Chorus, established in 1966, is a leader in the resurgence in women's choirs specializing in choral masterpieces. The PWC is known for its adventurous programming, seeking out music written specifically for women, and frequently commissioning new works. The singers are selected by audition and share an enthusiasm for challenging repertoire sung in original languages. Among PWC's honors are third prize in the 2006 Béla Bartók 22nd International Choir Competition, women's division, in Debrecen, Hungary; two Chorus America/AS-CAP Awards for Adventurous Programming (2003 and 1999); second place, 2000 Margaret Hillis award for Choral Excellence, and second prize at the 1994 Tallinn International Choral Competition in Estonia. The chorus has made three appearances at ACDA National Conventions – first in 1987, singing a feature concert of the vocal orchestra music from the film, Song of Survival, and presenting music for women's voices in a special interest session of music by Kirke Mechem; in 1993, presenting a traditional choral program; and most recently in March of 2001, presenting a contemporary tour de force before more than 6,000 choral directors to great acclaim. In addition, the chorus performed as a continental founding choir at the AmericaFest World Festival of Women's Singing in Seattle in July of 2001. In the summer of 2003, the PWC participated, as one of four choirs representing the United States, in Festival 500: Sharing the Voices, an international festival of choral music in St. John's, Newfoundland. In addition to extensive performing throughout the San Francisco Bay Area, the chorus has competed in international competitions, has performed on National Public Radio, and has appeared on television both nationally and internationally.

CANTBILE YOUTH SINGERS

Psalms 150.....Sir David Willcocks (b. 1919)
commissioned by Toronto Children's Chorus, 1987

O praise God in his holiness: praise him in the firmament of his power.
Praise him in his noble acts: praise him according to his excellent greatness.
Praise him in the sound of the trumpet: praise him upon the lute and harp.
Praise him in the cymbals and dances: praise him upon the strings and pipe.
Praise him upon the well-tuned cymbals: praise him upon the loud cymbals.
Alleluia, Praise the Lord.

The English conductor, organist and music educator Sir David Willcocks began his musical training as a chorister at Westminster Abbey from 1929 to 1934. He was a music scholar at Clifton College, Bristol (1934-1938), and then the organ scholar at King's College, Cambridge (1939-1940). Following a five-year period of war military service, in which he was awarded the Military Cross, he returned to King's College. From 1957 to 1974 he held the post for which he is probably best known, Director of Music at King's College, Cambridge. In addition, he served as the organist of Cambridge University, conductor of the Cambridge University Musical Society, and as University Lecturer. He is currently Music Director Emeritus of King's College Choir, and an Honorary Fellow of King's College, Cambridge.

Yo le Canto todo el Dia.....David L. Brunner (b. 1953)
commissioned by the Miami Choral Society, 1997

Ya me voy de corazón,	I am moving with my heart,
Ya me voy con un tambor.	I am leaving with a drum.
Yo le canto todo el día	I sing to you all day long
Con cariño y alegría.	With affection and joy.
Ya me voy con un tambor,	I am leaving with a drum,
Con cariño y emoción.	With affection and emotion.

David L. Brunner is acclaimed as one today's most active and versatile conductors and composers, working with all ages in professional, university, public school, community, church and children's choruses. Brunner's compositions have been performed worldwide. He is the recipient of yearly ASCAP awards since 1997 and is published exclusively by Boosey & Hawkes, Inc., which has released nearly one hundred of his compositions.

Brunner holds degrees from Illinois Wesleyan University and Northwestern University in choral music education and conducting and the Doctor of Music Arts in Choral Literature and Conducting from the University of Illinois. In addition, he has studied with Robert Shaw, and with Helmuth Rilling in conducting master classes at the Oregon Bach Festival. Dr. Brunner is Professor of Music and Director of Choral Activities at the University of Central Florida, where he conducts the University Chorus and Chamber Singers, teaches courses in conducting and music education, and coaches composition students.

High Flight.....Karen Linford (b. 1967)
commissioned by Cantabile Youth Singers of Silicon Valley, 2005
Poem by John Gillespie Magee, Jr.

Oh! I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds—and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of—wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there
I've chased the shouting wind along, and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.
Up, up the long delirious, burning blue,
I've topped the windswept heights with easy grace
Where never lark, or even eagle flew—
And, while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untresspassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

Karen Linford received her undergraduate training in music education from Chico State University, where she studied under Dr. Sharon Paul and was recognized for her work in music and composition. She received a Master of Music degree in choral conducting from the University of Oregon in Eugene and has also taken courses in conducting from Helmuth Rilling, Charlene Archibeque, and Ralph Allwood. She was a member of the Oregon Bach Festival Choir for five years and has been a mezzo-soprano soloist with the University of Oregon Symphony, the Central Oregon Symphony, and the Sunriver Music Festival. Her numerous teaching experiences have included high school, (Acalanes HS and Carlmont HS) children's chorus (Cantabile Youth Singers of Silicon Valley and Contra Costa Children's Chorus), and adult choirs (Peninsula Women's Chorus). In the spring of 2005 and 2006, Karen was commissioned to work with several Bay Area schools, setting music to the poems of 4th and 5th graders. She is currently the Director of Choral Music at Menlo School, in Menlo Park, CA.

About the poem and the poet

John Gillespie Magee, Jr., entered flight training in 1941 when he was 18 years old, and soon was sent to England to join the No. 412 Fighter Squadron. He was assigned to fly the Supermarine Spitfire and flew air defense over England against the German Luftwaffe. As he orbited and climbed upward to 30,000 feet in a test flight, a poem came to his mind; back on the ground in a letter to his parents he included the poem, explaining: "It started at 30,000 feet and was finished soon after I landed."

Just 3 months later John Magee was killed in an air collision with another plane. His poem, "High Flight," has become a mantra for pilots, and has been called the most famous aviation poem ever written.

Four Russian Peasant Songs.....Igor Stravinsky (1882-1971)

Igor Stravinsky was deeply invested in Russian folk music, and his large-scale ground-breaking compositions in his new Russian style are known and loved worldwide. However, his small compositions written during the same period, including the "Four Russian Peasant Songs" for female chorus a cappella, composed 1914-1917, are less known to the public. Yet these songs deserve the closest attention, for they are veritable gems in which the essence of Stravinsky's revolutionary musical thought, including his modal and rhythmic ideas, are concentrated as densely as a dwarf star's matter.

In Russian these songs are called podbliudniye ("platter" or "saucer" songs) because of their connection with fortunetelling rituals practiced by peasants (and some aristocrats as well) during Yuletide celebrations. In the ritual young women tried to discern when they would get married, and whether wealth or misery awaited them in the future. The girls would put their rings, earrings, and hair ribbons onto a covered saucer, along with grain kernels and cinders. Then they sang the podbliudniye songs. With each song an object was plucked from the plate. Whatever the song's text promised was interpreted as a prediction, although the melody's character could also change the nature of the message. The messages, naturally, were wrapped into a rich metaphoric form.

The first three of the "Four Russian Peasant Songs" predict wealth for the one to whom they are sung. The fourth song, in a grotesque and allegoric form, foretells poverty. As for the songs' musical language, one should bear in mind that they are the product of a modern-day intellect. Stravinsky understands folk music as a live, pulsating, and intensely contemporary mode of expression, which is fully able to reflect the 20th Century world. Totally absent is even the smallest hint of a romantic "sacred trepidation" towards folk music; neither does one perceive even the remotest intention to idealize folklore, as was done in the 19th Century. As Paul Griffiths notes in his book Stravinsky, these songs are "futurist photographs of something ancient." -Vadim Prokhorov

Four Russian Peasant Songs

1. Near the Savior's Church in Chigisy
Near the Savior's Church in Chigisy
Across the Yauza River... Glory! Glory!
There the wealthy farmers live... Glory!
They rake up gold by the shovelful... Glory!
They gather up pure silver by the basketful...
Glory! Glory! Glory!

2. Ovsen

Ovsen, ovsen, ovsen!
I'm hunting a black grouse.... Ovsen, ovsen!
I'm hunting a black field grouse...
Ovsen, ovsen, ovsen!
It hides under a bush, but I grab its tail...Ovsen!
Its tail stuffed in my hand... Ovsen!
Its tail stuffed in my hand a handful of money.
Ovsen! Ovsen, ovsen, ovsen, ovsen!

3. The Pike

A pike came from Novgorod... Glory!
It dragged its tail from the White Lake... Glory!
Its scales are of siver... Glory!
They are gilded with gold... Glory!
Its back is braided with pearls... Glory!
Its head is studded with pearls... Glory!
And in place of its eyes are precious diamonds... Glory!

4. Fatso

Fatso ventured out into the turnip patch...
Glory, glory, glory, glory, glory!
Out of Fatso burst out a pound of lice.
Glory, glory, glory, glory, glory!
A pound of lice and a half-pound of fleas.
Glory, glory, glory, glory, glory!

Lyrical Limericks.....Zae Munn (b. 1953)
texts by Peg Lauber, Marilyn L. Taylor, Paul Munn and Zae Munn

Zae Munn is Professor of Music at Saint Mary's College in South Bend, Indiana where she has taught composition and theory courses since 1990. She taught at Interlochen Arts Camp in Michigan for 14 summers. Her DMA and MM degrees in composition are from the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and her BM in composition is from Chicago Musical College of Roosevelt University. Munn's early musical training was as a cellist, with additional studies in piano, voice, and conducting.

Her works are published by Arsis Press, Earthsongs, Frank E. Warren Music, HoneyRock, JOMAR Press, Tempo Press, and Yelton Rhodes Music. Recordings are available from, Capstone Records, Centaur Records, and a number of independent, local labels.

Lyrical Limericks is a musical setting of eight limericks written especially for this project, each intended to capture an aspect of the lives of the young women who would be singing it. Some are whimsical (piercing, vampires, Harry Potter) while others address weightier topics (dating and marriage, athletics, and feminism). A recurring section ("Once upon a time...") begins and ends the piece and also groups the limericks into three sections. Lyrical Limericks was commissioned for Volti's Choral Institute for High School Singers, by a consortium of Volti, Acalanes High School, and Piedmont East Bay Children's Choir. In January of this year, high school girls from Ancora and Acalanes High School spent an intensive week-end "choir camp" with five of Volti's professional women singers, along with the choirs' conductors, Robert Geary and Bruce Lengacher, learning this music as well as enjoying voice lessons, small-group rehearsals, work on music theory and solfege, and of course s'mores.

1. Young Jennifer painted her toes and her fingers the flashiest rose.
 Her mom said, "OK --
 but do as I say --
 Do not pierce your lip or your nose!"

2. There once was a long-limbed lass who people said had too much sass.
 She knew they were boorish;
 she continued to flourish,
 and she moved to the head of the class.

3. Hey girls, I hope you have heard how your troubles with love can be cured?
 Just forget those buff boys,
 with their come-ons and ploys,
 and marry a wonderful nerd!

4. There once was an athletic girl who thought she'd give curling a whirl.
 She took up a broom,
 the team gave her room,
 she moved on the ice with a swirl.

5. There once was a vampire named Barry who finally decided to marry
 The wedding? A dud.
 The guests all drank blood
 And the bride, a werewolf, was hairy!

6. Susannah and Danny were cool -- the best-looking couple in school.
 But when he started to stray,
 Susannah she went her own way.
 Susannah was nobody's fool!

7. My friend went to Kalamazoo and came back with a zig-zag tattoo.
 I think someone got her to read Harry Potter,
 and this was her bolt from the blue.

8. There once was a feminist critique that suggested she was not a freak.
She processed this news
and other world views and now thinks of herself as unique.

Painted Lights (2010).....Kui Dong (b. 1966)
Commissioned by Volti and Piedmont East Bay Children's Choir

Kui Dong was born in Beijing, China, and earned her Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees with honors in theory and composition from the Central Conservatory of Music in Beijing in 1989, where she was trained in western classical music as well as Chinese classical and folk music. From 1988 through 1990, she worked as a free-lance composer for film, television and commercials, and as composer-in-residence for the Central Ballet Group of China, for whom she and co-composer Duo Huang wrote the full-length ballet Imperial Queen Young. In 1991, Dong moved to the United States to earn a Doctor of Musical Arts degree in composition from Stanford University. Since 1997 she has held the position of Associate Professor of Music at Dartmouth University in New Hampshire, where she teaches music composition, theory, improvisation and contemporary music.

Her works written in United States increasingly show a unique synthesis of influences from avant-garde experimental, jazz, electro-acoustic and other ethnic music. In some works, she has incorporated traditional Chinese instruments and musical concepts into contemporary settings. She also occasionally performs free-improvisation on piano with her Dartmouth colleagues Christian Wolff and Larry Polansky.

Composer's note: Painted Lights, for double chorus of adults and children, is written as the closing act of my choral trilogy that began with Shui Diao Ge To and Song (2003), premiered by Volti, and continued with Let the Frogs and Crickets Carry It On, performed by Piedmont Children's Choir.

A logical progression into adulthood -- where there exists a growing confusion and fear, a tender human desire of wanting to know the mystery of the unknown, wondering what it will be like in the beyond when we cross over -- shapes the main concept of the piece. The children's voices are a reminder of the relationship between adults and children.

This also represents the inner child in every adult that, although deeply hidden, still maintains a perspective of youth and optimism. The idea of musical layering plays the notion of romancing the concept of death (by the composer), while mocking and rationalizing it with a "clinical description" of death, found online in the Wiki encyclopedia.

This piece also expands the concept of crossing over, literally, both in the music and the staging. The two ensembles move to each other's side of the stage while singing; the sonic voice crossing happens in shifting from the timbre of children's high voices "gliding" down to the adults' bass. This forms an invisible but audible line of crossing in the fourth dimension.

Volti and Ensemble present the second movement of this two-movement piece.

* * *

Painted Lights
- Kui Dong

Mysterious dreams drop on the thin edges of ghostly echoes
Death is imminent,
I hear it coming for me
It is coming to me

Have you seen me before?
Three voices pulling out of one
Are you who you were
Are you who you are,
Are you who you will be?

When stars shimmer in the sky
Our dreams shall cross
You will see me again
You will hear me again
And we will sing

- Denise Newman
The mind turns backward
recalls a sea
the body rests in its cave
and the sea goes nowhere

Denise Newman is a poet and translator living in San Francisco. She is the author of three collections of poems, and she has also translated Azorno and The Painted Room by the Danish poet Inger Christensen. Her poems, collaborations, and translations have appeared in Denver Quarterly, Volt, Fence, New American Writing, ZYZZYVA, and elsewhere. She has been a Djerassi Resident Artist, and she teaches creative writing at the California College of Arts and Crafts and at Mills College. For the past decade, she has been collaborating with composers, providing lyrics for choral works.

VolTI – a 20-member, mixed-voice professional chamber chorus -- was founded by Robert Geary as the San Francisco Chamber Singers in 1979. By the 1990s the ensemble was basing its programming almost exclusively on premieres and commissions from living composers.

For its 25th anniversary season in 2003/04, the choir adopted a new name—VolTI. Evoking the hallmark energy, vigor and forward-looking spirit of the group, the new name was taken from the musical expression volti subito, which directs musicians to “turn [the page] quickly,” or “look ahead.”

Now in its 32nd season, VolTI showcases American contemporary music and composers and introduces contemporary music from around the world to Bay Area audiences. Working with some of the most creative and original established and emerging American composers, the professional singers of VolTI present multiple premieres and commissions each season. With over 500 performances to its credit, the group has become one of America’s renowned choirs, repeatedly recognized as a pioneering force in the contemporary choral performance field. In June of 2009 the American Society for Composers and Publishers (ASCAP) awarded VolTI its Award for Adventurous Programming of Contemporary Music for the sixth time. VolTI is the first and only chorus to receive this award so many times. Bob Geary says he thinks of VolTI as “the R&D arm of the choral world.”

In addition to its commissioning and concert programs, VolTI sponsors an educational outreach program, the Choral Institute for High School singers. The Institute begins with an intensive weekend retreat at which several high school choirs combine forces to learn new music under the mentorship of a composer in residence -- last year, Morten Lauridsen, this year, Kirke Mechem, and next year Stacy Garrop -- with the guidance of VolTI’s professional singers, Geary, and the high schools’ choir conductors. Later in the school year, after continued rehearsal, the choirs reunite for a public performance.

San Francisco critics have praised VolTI’s “stunning performances” of “unique and ambitious program[s].” Critic Jules Langert of the San Francisco Classical Voice called the group “an important and formidable local asset, immensely rewarding to hear in repertoire that no one else seems to be taking on.” In 2008, SFCV’s Georgia Rowe called the group “one of the Bay Area’s most consistent musical treasures.” Joshua Kosman of the San Francisco Chronicle notes VolTI’s “irresistible blend of vigor and bonhomie,” and Charles Amirkhania of Other Minds praises VolTI’s “innovative and visionary spirit that is willing to push boundaries and take an active role in shaping our musical landscape and future.”

This is not your grandmother’s choir.

Privilege (2010).....Ted Hearne (b. 1982)
2009/10 Volti Choral Arts Laboratory Commission

Composer, conductor and performer of new music Ted Hearne attended Manhattan School of Music and Yale School of Music, and studied with Martin Bresnick, Aaron Jay Kernis, Ezra Laderman, David Lang, Nils Vigeland and Julia Wolfe. Ted is the artistic director of Yes is a World, resident conductor of Red Light New Music, and for five years was composer-in-residence of the Chicago Children's Choir. Ted was awarded the 2008 Charles Ives Scholarship from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and was an artist in residence at the MacDowell Colony in Fall 2009. His work Katrina Ballads is the recipient of the 2009 Gaudeamus Prize in composition.

The Minnesota Orchestra, Calder Quartet, Pittsburgh New Music Ensemble, Transit Ensemble, and New York City Opera have performed Ted's music. Upcoming commissions include works for DITHER Electric Guitar Quartet, Toomai Quintet, and a new work for Yale Glee Club and Yale Symphony Orchestra to be premiered at Carnegie Hall in April 2011.

Composer's Note: Privilege is a collection of five short pieces. The fourth movement (they get it) is set to a text taken from an interview of David Simon (creator of HBO's The Wire) by journalist Bill Moyers, which aired in April 2009 on PBS. they get it addresses the idea that there is a large segment of our population - Simon guesses ten to fifteen percent - whose existence is unnecessary to the American economy, especially those who "are undereducated, that have been ill served by the inner city school system, that have been unprepared for the technocracy of the modern economy." Until there is a place for them in the American ideal, Simon posits, drug trafficking and other illegal activity will provide a more viable financial option.

The final movement, we cannot leave, is set to the translation of As' Kwaz' uKuhamba, a black South African political Anti-Apartheid song, the original words of which are in Xhosa, the native language of Nelson Mandela.

-Ted Hearne

IV. they get it

we pretend to need them
we pretend to educate the kids

but we don't

and they're not foolish
they get it

we are being killed by the monster

oh, mother, it's leaving me behind!
i want to get on the train

Volti's Choral Arts Laboratory ("CAL") is an annual commissioning and residency program, begun in 2003, which is designed to give American composers under the age of 35 the opportunity to work with the professional singers of Volti during the compositional process. The composer is invited not only to create a work for the ensemble, but to develop the composition in a workshop setting. The composer is then given more time to work out issues discovered during rehearsal with the singers, as well as during consultations with Artistic Director Robert Geary and Volti's longtime Resident Composer, Mark Winges. This collaboration culminates in the world-premiere performances given by Bob Geary and Volti during the regular concert season.

Each year composers from around the U.S. apply to Volti for this opportunity. More than half of the states have been represented over the seven years of this program, with nearly 50 applications in 2010. Matthew Barnson, whose music has been featured on both sides of the Atlantic (ISCM World New Music Days in Stuttgart, Czech Republic's Ostrava Days, June in Buffalo, Aspen Music Festival), has been selected to write the eighth CAL commission, which will be premiered in May 2011. Peter Knell, Robert Paterson, Eric Lindsay, Amy Beth Kirsten, George Lam, Ruby Fulton and Ted Hearne are past CAL composers.

CRYSTAL CHILDREN'S CHOIR

The Riddle Song.....Chinese folk song, arr. Zhang Yi-Da

This is a children's folk rhyme from the Southwest region of China, which uses a question-and-answer dialog style to connect a musical theme and variation. The introduction adds colors to the setting and instantly transforms it to a beautiful backdrop on the sunset hills with the sounds of village children playing and laughing. Using the rhythms of a tongue twister, the song depicts the children engage in a riddle game. The melodic lines are simple yet humorous and vivid.

Diu Diu Dang.....Taiwanese folk song, arr. Chuang Shien-Lu

A traditional Taiwanese folk song composed by Mr. Lu in 1942, who translated the orally passed down melody into text. It portrays the railroad constructed in the early 1900's around Yi-Lan, demonstrating the way of life that surrounds the village.

Water Beetle Presage.....Chinese folk song, arr. Liu Ziao-Geng

This is a folk song of which the melody and words have been passed on from generation to generation among the Chinese ethnic group, Zhuang, residing in the mountain villages of Wensan. It is a song which portrays the village children playing with water beetles in the rice fields by the creek side. To where the water beetle flies away is also a presage about a girl's destiny of future marriage. The cheerful singing is to wish that the water beetles will not fly far away so the girls will not be apart from their loving folks.

Conductors: Jenny Chiang and Karl Chang

Accompanist: Anna Lin

Jenny Chiang, the Artistic Director of Crystal Children's Choir, was born and raised in Taiwan. She received her early music training from Professor Chuang-Shien Lu, who is well known as a composer and "Father of Children's Choral Music" in Taiwan, and her MA from University of Utah. Ms. Chiang co-founded Crystal Children's Choir in 1994 and has served as Artistic Director ever since. In the summer of 2000 and the spring of 2005, she studied choral conducting with Dr. Charlene Archibeque at San Jose State University.

Karl Chang, the Executive Director of Crystal Children’s Choir, is the co-founder of two choirs in Silicon Valley, California (ChingChing chorus and Crystal). Mr. Chang received his Master’s degree in Engineering and an MBA. However, his passion for choral music has led him to pursue his lifelong dream, conducting choirs and studying choral conducting with Dr. Charlene Archibeque. Under his leadership, Crystal Children’s Choir has received superior ratings at numerous choral festivals and has been recognized for its outstanding performances of repertoire rich in cultural diversity.

Crystal Children’s Choir was founded in the San Francisco Bay Area in 1994. Since then, it has grown into an organization of over one thousand members. Choir members rehearse every week with their respective ages and skill levels in four Bay Area cities - Cupertino, Fremont, Foster City and San Jose.

The Choir has toured Australia, Asia, Europe, and North America, and has performed at prestigious venues including St. Peter’s Basilica in Vatican City, Taipei National Concert Hall, Sydney Opera House, Davies Symphony Hall, Carnegie Hall, and Beijing Concert Hall. Crystal Children’s Choir also received numerous invitations to perform at the Conferences or Conventions of CMEA, OAKE, MENC and ACDA.

Crystal Children’s Choir aspires to be a cultural ambassador of children’s choral music, especially in the field of Chinese folk songs and newly commissioned works. Through offering the choristers a unique musical and life-enhancing education, Crystal Children’s Choir hopes to nurture team work, love of music, and excellence in choral singing among the younger generation.

Magic Strings (1992).....Mark Winges (b. 1951)

Mark Winges, born in Louisville, Kentucky, currently resides in San Francisco, where he is composer/advisor for Volti. He is a graduate of the College-Conservatory of Music - University of Cincinnati, SF State University, and has studied at the Musikhögskolan in Stockholm, Sweden. His principal teachers were Ellsworth Milburn, Henry Onderdonk, and Arne Mellnäs.

Magic Strings includes all sorts of sounds and gestures appropriate to a “shamaness’ exorcism”: whistles and whispers from the chorus, plucked strings and other extended techniques from the piano. The journey of the music follows the path of the poem, reflecting its images in sound. The text is a poem by Li Ho, a short-lived eighth century Tang dynasty Chinese poet.

A Piece for Magic Strings

(A shamaness exorcises baleful creatures.)

On the western hills the sun sets, the eastern hills darken,
Horses blown by the whirlwind tread the clouds.
From colored lute and plain pipes, crowded faint notes:
Her flowered skirt rustles as she steps in the autumn dust.
When the wind brushes the cassia leaves and a cassia seed drops
The blue raccoon weeps blood and the cold fox dies.
Dragons painted on the ancient wall with tails of inlaid gold
The God of Rain rides into the autumn pool;
And the owl a hundred years old, which changed to a goblin of the trees,
Hears the sound of laughter as green flames start up inside its nest.

- translation by A. C. Graham

This concert marks the premiere performance of “Face and Heart,” composed by Pablo Ortiz and commissioned by the Peninsula Women’s Chorus through the Patricia Hennings New Music Fund, the Piedmont East Bay Children’s Choir, and Crystal Children’s Choir.

The text of “Face and Heart” comes from Snake Poems: An Aztec Invocation, a collection of poems written by Chicano poet Francisco Alarcón, who currently heads the Spanish for Native Speakers Program at UC Davis, and is a colleague of Ortiz’s. Alarcón’s inspiration for Snake Poems stemmed from the translations of a 17th century Catholic priest Hernando Ruiz de Alarcón, who recorded the spells and myths of the native Aztec people in Mexico during the Spanish Inquisition. Alarcón believes he is a descendant of the priest who employed torture to induce the local Indians to reveal secrets about their rituals and incantations. Alarcón’s work in Snake Poems is a tribute and reconciliatory gesture to the ancient powers of his ancestry.

In “Face and Heart,” Alarcón’s use of repetitive and simple language recalls our childhood and reveals our shared innate desire to complete our life journey “to the huge playground of the universe.” Ortiz introduces harmonic changes in the music at each utterance of the words “may” and “let,” reminding us that this song is an entreaty or prayer. In addition, Ortiz uses chant-like repetitions to recreate an almost ritualistic incantation. Ortiz achieves this feel of ancient ritual by splitting the final section into six vocal parts, each one a different variation of a melodic strain on the repeated vowel sound “e” of the word “hear.” Ortiz’s use of word and sound repetition may have been borrowed from the native Aztec language Nahuatl which uses productive reduplication, a form of reiterative expression to intensify the meaning of a verb. It is not surprising that Ortiz chooses to accentuate the word “hear.” After all, we want the gods to hear our song!

Pablo Ortiz is a professor of composition at UC Davis. He taught composition and was co-director of the Electronic Music Studio at the University of Pittsburgh from 1990 to 1994. Among those who have performed his compositions are the Buenos Aires Philharmonic, the Arditti String Quartet, the Ensemble Contrechamps of Geneva, Music Mobile, Continuum, Les Percussions de Strasbourg, and the Theatre of Voices. His music has been heard at international festivals in Salzburg (Aspekte), Geneva (Extasis), Strasbourg (Musica), Havana, Frankfurt, Zurich, Sao Paulo, and Mexico City. In 1993, he received a Guggenheim Fellowship. In 1996, he received the Charles Ives Fellowship from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. In 1997 and 1998, Ortiz was commissioned by the Centro Experimental Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires to compose two chamber operas, Parodia and Una voz en el vient. In 1999, he was commissioned by the Koussevitzky Foundation to write Raya en el mar for the San Francisco Contemporary Music Players. In 2000, he received a grant from Fideicomiso para la cultura Mexico-U.S. to write children’s songs.

In 2004, the Gerbode Foundation commissioned Oscuro for Chanticleer and the San Francisco Contemporary Music Players. In 2008, he received an Academy Award from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. Recent premieres include Heat Wave, written for Joel Sachs and the New Juilliard Ensemble, Suomalainen tango for orchestra by the Orquestra Nacional de Catalunya, and Trois tangos en marge by the Kovacik, Dann, Karttunen trio at the Museo Nacional Reina Sofia in Madrid. He currently is working on a ballet with choreographer Diana Theodoridis for the Teatro Municipal General San Martin in Buenos Aires.

Francisco X. Alarcón, Chicano poet and educator, was born in Los Angeles, California, in 1954. He is the author of many volumes of poetry, including several bilingual books of poetry for children. Francisco has been a recipient of the Danforth and Fulbright fellowships, has been awarded several literary prizes, and has twice been a finalist for the post of Poet Laureate of the State of California. He did his undergraduate studies at California State University, Long Beach, and his graduate studies at Stanford University. He currently teaches at the University of California, Davis, where he directs the Spanish for Native Speakers Program.

Volti wraps up its 32nd season with an eclectic program of the new and the newer, highlighted by world premieres of two hot-off-the-presses Volti commissions.

Elliott Gyger sets an amazing 17th century Italian poem about voice (and nothing more) – how appropriate for this a cappella choir! – while Matthew Barnson, the winner of our young-composer competition this year, offers a darkly subversive take on Genesis.

We also reprise two Volti commissions from recent seasons: Two Billy Collins Songs by Yu-Hui Chang (premiered last season) and Ruby Fulton's internet-meme meditation The Ballad of James Parry (premiered in 2009).

Rounding out the concert is the timeless Latin of Hildegard von Bingen, lushly set by Frank Ferko in O Ignis Spiritus Paracliti.
